

NEED A QUOTE?

Choose from two options

1. Budgetary / Ballpark Quote

Who it's best for: Anyone early in the brewery equipment selection process, including those building a business plan or case for a new brewery proposal.

What it includes: Estimated pricing and lead time

Does not include: Engineering, detailed cost estimates

What we need: Brewery specifications or scope of work

Takes this long: Approximately one week

2. Full Quote

Who it's best for: Anyone needing firm numbers and detailed costs for approval from a bank or stakeholders or for a contract or purchase order.

What it includes: Engineering review, detailed cost estimates, defined scope, terms and conditions, lead time, pricing

What we need: Defined scope/specifications, location, schedule/timing

Takes this long: Approximately three weeks, depends on complexity/number of designs

What to expect when you partner with Paul Mueller Company

Our Beer Genius team has the knowledge and resources you need to get up and running on time and on budget. Each turnkey brewery package is manufactured to order and our simplified buying process saves you time and headaches. Deal with one vendor, one timeline, and one point of contact for all your brewery equipment needs.

The success of any project depends on the process that moves it forward. A general outline of our process is listed below, although every brewery project has its own specific needs and details. We'll lead you through each step and keep you well informed throughout the process.
